Company Summary

Eco (Atlantic) Oil & Gas is an exploration company with assets in Guyana and Namibia

Guyana updates

Event

Eco (Atlantic) Oil & Gas (“Eco” or the “Company”) has announced that Total has elected to exercise its option to acquire a 25% working interest in the Orinduik Block from Eco. Subject to regulatory approvals, Eco’s working interest will reduce to 15%. Total will pay an option exercise payment of US$12.5m, which Eco estimates will be sufficient to recoup the cost of the recently acquired 3D seismic and to cover the net cost of two exploration wells on the licence.

Earlier in the week, Eco also announced that Gustavson Associates LLC has finalised a CPR on the Orinduik Block. The report estimates a gross P50 prospective resource estimate of 2,913mmboe (437mmboe net to Eco) attributable to 10 leads. The probability of success is estimated at 16-22%.

Comment

These announcements demonstrate that the highly prospective potential of the Orinduik Block is also backed by third party analysis. Exploration potential remains high risk, but the rewards are material, even after reducing its interest to 15%. Drilling results on neighbouring licences provides evidence that a working hydrocarbons system exists in a variety of different play types, with at least of one of these seen to extend updip and into the Orinduik Block. Drilling is planned to commence in mid 2019. With the additional funds due from the exercise of the Total option, Eco remains in a very strong financial position and fully funded for all current planned activity.
